A DILEMMA.

An Unlooked For Turn in Phenix Corr otion Scheme.

The Journal-Miner's timely expose windy failure. of the bold corruption scheme of Phenix to obtain the removal of the territorial capital has caused a turn in affairs which was unlooked for there. Paid emissaries of the corruptionists have already visited the different counties of the southern part of the territory, for the purpose of fixing up the necessary combinations to carry out their scheme. So brazen and public have their actions been, together with the fact that not only the existence of general public at large, but the size of it as well, that an honest legislator, who may have honestly been in favor of capital removal, will think twice now before voting for it. The knowledge that Ph nix has raised money for the purpose, has done so epenly and publicly, and has as publicly proclaimed her intention of buying the Arizona legislature, will naturally make an onest man, who has any reputation at PRESCOTT & ARIZONA CEN- all, and who has any regard for it, a little timid about supporting such a measure lest the taint of this corruption fund cling to him, though isnocent. Should the scheme inaugurated by Pass'ger | Phenix, to purchase the Arizona legislature, for the purpose of removing the capital, be adhered to, the pub'ic will watch with considerable interest the vote en the proposition. With this turn in affairs, real estate in Phenix is not booming to any great extent in anticipation of the capital being located there this winter, and capital removal schemers of the place are consequently not so happy as they were a few weeks ago. They have realized that when an pleasure of meeting John H. Hise, th. son of the surveyor general of Arizona whe came in on Saturday from his ranch sixteen miles above Payson. Yavapai county, and what is known a Little Green valley. Mr. Hise informs us that his vaqueres were now driving here a bunch of three and fouryear old beef steers, which he proposes to place on our alfalfa pastures, put the fat back on them that was lost in the drive, and then place them on the market. He went to Tempe to-day to make arrangements for the necessary pasturage. Mr. Hise has a beautiful and romantic home. Little Green valley has an altitude of about 5,000 feet above sea-level and nestled under the rim rock of the Mozellaus, within rise perpendicularly 500 to 1,000 feet above it. It is situate 100 miles from Phenix the same from Prescott, and 50 miles from Winslow on the Atlantic and Pacific railroad. He has 160 acres under fence, and its water controls a magnificent stock range from 6 to 8 miles in extent. The valley itself, which is principally rolling hills, embraces about all the arable land in that region, and last year produced about 1,000 tons of hay, 10 tons of corn, besides vegetables. That the place is profitable as well as pleasant is thus demonstrated.

In the censer of his meadow is natural wonder in the shape of an iron spring or well. It may be properly be termed the latter, for soundings have been taken to a depth of forty feet and no bottom reached The water is as cold as ice, but covers the surrounding rocks and soil with quantities of iron rust, and a careful analysis will probaly show good medicinal qualities. The summer climate of little Green valley cannot be surpassed on the coast, while the Mogellon range affords the finest sport in hunting turkey, deer and bear, while smaller game abounds. The Mineral Belt railroad will pass near this pretty retreat, and in future years the reporter confidently expects it to become a most popular summer resort, and a resting place for the overworked denizens of our lower valleys -Arizonan.
